Dedication

With pride and affection we dedicate this Year Book to Miss Harriet Spencer. It is particularly fitting that we do this since all of her school days, both in grade and high school, were spent within these walls. For many years she, in her turn, has been guiding the footsteps of youth in our school. We pay tribute to her loyalty and devotion, her gentle spirit, and her understanding of youth.

"Ladies and Gentlemen," said the master of ceremonies, "before this program begins, I'd like to introduce a Centennial student who has a few words to say."

"Thank you, sir," said the student, speaking into a microphone, the 1940 Class Memorial. "On behalf of the whole student body of Centennial High School, I would like to thank our school board and faculty for their cooperation and aid throughout the school year. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with our sponsors, may I introduce—Mr. Hoffman, the president of the school board. Here is Mr. Burney, and may I say that no school ever had a better booster. Mr. Smith and Mr. Robertson are treasurer and secretary respectively. Perhaps the one best known to us is Mr. Risley, our superintendent. Dr. Spencer has long been known for his loyal support of the Bulldogs. Mr. Chasteen and Dr. Rice are the two new members of the school board. It is because of Mr. Ramsower that A. C. O. clean-up campaigns are rarely needed in Centen. The school board is fortunate in having such right hand helpers as Miss Anderson and Miss Crawford.

"It is impossible for me to introduce the faculty members individually, but we want them to know that we appreciate their efforts in our behalf, and that we are sorry for the many trials and tribulations which we may have caused them. In other words, the student body wishes to give three cheers for their school board and faculty.

"We thank our sponsors again for their kindness and understanding. I now turn the microphone back to the master of ceremonies."

Appreciation

Not even radio is far reaching or powerful enough to let everyone know the high regard held for Mr. Greene, our Senior critic, by the entire Senior Class. Conscientious, sincere, unselfish, and fair are words which may be accurately applied to him. Mr. Greene, the class of 1940 salutes you!

Station 1-9-4-0

Away back in the "dark ages," four years ago, the Class of 1940 entered the halls of Centennial. That they were the largest class to have entered the school did not overcome the bewilderment and timidity of the "frosh." Little did anyone dream at that time that this class would leave as its memorial a complete inter-room radio communication system. Nor did anyone think that from this class was to come the state high school basketball champions; the second best football team in the state; a debate team that was to be the best in four states and would gain a decision over the national champions.

The epitome of the spirit of the class is found in Betty Jeanne Overmyer. Invalid by disease, she is winning the fight against the odds that beset her. Although compelled to miss virtually all her senior year, she successfully made up the work and graduated with the class. Her splendid example has inspired the entire class to strive for better things. To every member of the class, Betty Jeanne symbolizes the true Bulldog spirit of Centennial.

This class "began life" in Centennial under the able guidance of Mr. Jehle. Early in the year the class election was held. Stephen Comiskey became president; Nathan Hoagland, vice-president; Beatrice Laramey, secretary; and Marjorie Kirk, treasurer. These same students held each office without change for the four years. The vodevil, circus, newspaper and annual, band, orchestra, and glee clubs counted freshmen as active members. Freshman athletics produced Leland Johnson as a member of the football squad; Ray Gottula as the first frosh ever to earn a basketball letter; and Heath Nuckolls, who won a letter in track. Shakespeare awards for the highest freshman scholarship went to Myrtle Little, Marjorie Kirk, and Isami Ota.

At the beginning of the second year, Mr. Greene "took over" as class critic. Mr. Greene, working with the class officers, has done much to contribute to the success of the class, especially in the fulfillment of the plans for the radio system as the class memorial. It was during this year that the first plans for the memorial were made. The year also saw the organization of the sophomore boys' society, Orion. Under the leadership of Mr. Greene, it became one of the most active societies in school. In the realm of athletics the sophomores made themselves known, Leland Johnson and Lewis Amaya were football lettermen, and earned letters in basketball along with Farris Douglas, Ray Gottula, James Smith, and Heath Nuckolls. Heath and Bill Major lettered in track. Stephen Comiskey and Bret Kelly earned positions on the first team in debate, and Stephen won the Davis Latin medal.

The next year ushered in the masque and sandal of histrionics when "Professor Pepp," a comedy directed by Mr. Greene, was presented. Athletics once again were in the spotlight, and other schools of the South Central League looked forward to the next year with apprehension. The juniors had fourteen lettermen in football and six in basketball. In football, Doyle Hilton was named honorary captain, and Lewis Amaya, Heath Nuckolls, Richard Biffle, Farris Douglas, Jim Flanigan, Vernon Edgar, Leland Johnson, Ray Gottula, Jack McCarthy, Glen Hunter, Charles Tappan, James Smith, and Richard Trevithick lettered. Ray Gottula was honorary captain in basketball, and Leland, James, Farris, Lewis, and Heath earned "C's." Lewis, Heath, and William Snead lettered in track. Jim Potter and Dave More had leading parts in the school opera. Ella Brown won first place in a V. F. W. essay contest, while Gerry Ribar was a finalist in the Hesperian essay contest.

"A blaze of glory" seems best to fit the last year of the class of 1940. The football team started the year off by going through the season undefeated until the Loveland Indians showed too much power in the state championship game. Vernon Edgar captained the team. Charles Tappan, Leland Johnson, James Smith, Jim Flanigan, Heath Nuckolls, Ray Gottula, Farris Douglas, Lewis Amaya, Todd Storer, and Jack McCarthy all earned letters. The basketball team followed suit by winning twelve straight conference games, and then winning three inter-league games to bring back the state championship. Lewis Amaya was captain, and James, Farris, Heath, Ray, and Leland all lettered for the third time in basketball. Bret Kelly and his snappy assistants, Fred Dixon and Knox Converse, as yell-leaders had little trouble with two such teams to back. In dramatics the seniors took an active part. Elaine Shadford played the lead in the Christmas play with a fine supporting cast of seniors. In the "Evening of One-Act Plays" seniors predonimated. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" was the senior play. Stephen Comiskey and Bret Kelly defeated the national champions in a radio debate. Margaret Hughes, Rae Moery, and Frances Carson, who won the medal, were finalists in the Hesperian essay contest. Elsie DeShon, Frances Carson, and Gerry Ribar were in the finals of the Muzzio Reading contest. Gerry was elected D. A. R. representative for her outstanding qualities of leadership, service, and patriotism. Jim Potter went to Kansas City to participate in a vocal contest. By graduation, fifteen per cent of the class were members of the National Honor Society. The revival of Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic society, began with twenty seniors as members. "A Waltz Dream," an operetta by Strauss, was presented by the glee club with seniors in all important parts.

Somewhat sadly, but proudly, the seniors reflect on their four years in Centen—years that passed all too quickly. They've tried to do their best, and they are justly proud of their record. But the past is past. No longer will they be part of the student body that rises to cheer the victorious Bulldog teams. Behind are the other classes to fill the empty senior roll room and to sing "On Centennial" for the teams that will some day equal and perhaps surpass the record of the Class of 1940. And for the seniors a new and strange world lies ahead to be conquered. "The old order changeth, yielding place to new . . . ."

—BRET KELLY.

We, who are leaving,
Say unto you:
"Cherish each moment
And live not to rue
A wanton waste of time;

"Build and progress
Even if only in the mind;
Store and cherish
Each fact that you find—
Any and every worthwhile bit of knowledge.

"Build and progress,
But of greatest import
Use every moment—
No matter how short—
For the noble and high ideals of man."

—HASKELL YOUNG.

Confucius Say . . .

On the morning of May 30, 1940, the familiar chimes of the radio system drew the attention of Centennial. Mr. Heaton, in a tone plainly showing that he was puzzled, spoke.

"This morning we have picked up on the radio system a very unusual program. We have been unable to locate the source, but the program deals with the Class of 1940, so we'll let you hear for yourself. The next voice you hear will be that of the announcer of this myterious station."

". . . . and he sees all, knows all, and tells all. The mysteries of the future are to him an open book. Today he will predict the future of the Class of 1940. I give you that infallible seer—the world's greatest mystic. Attention. Go right ahead, sir."

"Confucius say—I see before me the Class of 1940 in 1950—ten years from this day. I will tell the strange doings that only I can see.

"Your illustrious class president, Stephen Comiskey, has gone far. Not only has he acquired himself a mustache and a French accent, but he also has a nifty place of business called Ye Olde Beautee Shoppe. In this business he is assisted by Marjorie Kirk and Elsie Camack, who manage the financial dealings. Due to efforts of press-agents, Converse and Snead, Nathan Hoagland is recognized everywhere as 'Hoaglinski and his violin.' Beatrice Laramey, Shirley Buchanan, Marjorie Dudley, and Dorothy MacFarlane are familiar names on Park Avenue, although they are better known by the Walter Winchellish expression, 'The sleek, slick, smooth, snappy, smart set.'

"Lowell Kieffer, tragic comedian, and George Hedges, the comic tragedian, are on the Broadway stage. Who Done It, a delightful comedy by Betty Phelps, termed a tragedy by the critics, enjoyed a record run of one night, despite the best efforts of Ima Kidd (Imogene Plumlee), Iwisha Wuz, (Wilma Covington), and Ome Omy (Catherine Ryan), I. C. Redd (Bob McIntosh), and Hugh Bett (Philbrook Chariton). Madelyn Balch is the husky-voiced blues singer with 'Hot Lips' Linn's band. This band features 'Barrelhouse' Ray Gottula and 'Skinbeater' Chuck Tappan. Jimmy Smith and Rae Moery are world-famous for their grace and agility in performing the intricate steps of their toe-dance. Heath Nuckolls is a bushy-haired Paderewski since he became piano soloist with the Philadelphia Symphony.

"Elaine Shadford is a sheet designer for ghosts, and Virginia Gaskill and Vera Miller assist her in this profession. In order to scare up some spooky business, they present a program over the ghost to ghost hook-up, with the cheerful voice of David Fulton starting the program off with 'Ghostly Styles for Guileless Ghosts!' Then follows the theme song of I Ain't Got No Body sung by Mary Bell Alber, Josephine Chiaramonte, Helen Whalen, and Maurice Forester. Farris Douglas, the singing troubador, is very popular at Dick Reitemeier's restaurant—'Dick's Roost.'

"Jim Flanigan, by a steady series of promotions, has risen to the exalted position of water-boy for the Fowler Rowdies. Bill Detwiler has invented a radio that has no static, and all you have to do is look at it, and it will select any program you think of at the time. The only trouble is that it won't work. Ray Ingels is a suave man-about-town, twirling a fancy cane as deftly as he ever twirled his old baton. Jeanne Zimmerman manufactures 'Zimmerman's Zippy Zoup.' Rosa Lee Hayes' and D. D. Hayworth's product is advertised by this slogan, 'Hayes' Hay is Hayworth your money.' Dave, Dan, and Marie have a profitable business in 'More, More, and Moore Eggs.' 'Not a rock in a carload' is the slogan of Fifth Avenue's ritziest jewelry store run by Martha Dell Scott, Evelyn Randolph, and Mae Carpenter. Next door a sign proclaims the pawn shop of Betty June and LaTrelle: 'This is the place for Hocking; we Needham.' 'Little Cleaner Laundry—Does Your Dirty Work' is operated by Madelyn Callahan, Vivian Mayer, and Betty Sanders. You'll recognize 'Brown, White, Brown, White, and Violet, Hat Designers' as Ella, Eileen, Mary Ann, Doris, and Speakman. 'Walker to keep Trimm' is a reducing agency run by Norma and Redell. Walter Carroll has become a poet, and his sonnets are ranked high by Peggy O'Neal and Mary Brasselero, literary critics of The Swink Daily Punch. Christine Laferl's book, How to Chew Gum in Class and Escape Detection, has been acclaimed a literary masterpiece and is selling by the hundreds to Centen students. Ed Stock, Paul Turner, Dick Mabie, Arthur Berardi, and Fred Coy have organized a society for scientific research on the question, Why does a chicken cross the road? Carson, Carson, and Garson, Inc., the only firm of women lawyers in Chicago, have gained an unenviable reputation. Jeanette Epstein and Georgia Cunningham are noted for their lion act with the Super-Collossal Amalgamated Punch and Judy Shows run by Georgia Cudworth and Inez Smith.

"Herbert Armstrong, Ed Frazzin, and Harold Osgood by their cooperative efforts and much research have perfected a sieve guaranteed to hold water. To give housewives a break Nell Marco, Myrtle Little, Doris Hoffman, and Mary Archires have set up an insect extermination bureau that will get rid of ants, spiders, flies and other vermin—special rates on pink elephants. Jack Hunt and John Rendon have invented a light bulb that will never burn out or break. It doesn't give any light, of course, but that's a small matter.

"Bott and Bricker, Baby Buggy Bumpers, Inc., is a well-known firm. The advertising phrase of 'Roll up Hill and down Hill with Square Wheels for Rough Riding,' identifies Melvin, Keith, Gordon, and their product. Kay Shippee, Billie McIlvain, and Gerry Ribar sell hair nets and snoods for pampered pooches. Helen Turner, Ruth Johnson, and Ona Mae Blanchfield have perfected a toothless comb which simplifies hair combing of 'baldpates.' One of the most revolutionary inventions of the decade is marketed by Betty Jo Genova, Dorothy Deppen, Nellie Hoagland, and Rose Latino—this startling product, square peas, solves one of the most difficult of all eating problems. Another striking innovation is a compass that points south. It has brought a small fortune to three scientific gentlemen—Levi Brookshire, Paul Allen, and Thomas Stavely.

"Dan Howell sells air-conditioned hot-dogs at county fairs. Elizabeth Meeth, Margaret Allee, Opal Craig, and Ila Sollee have started a novel escort bureau. This service is to give traveling Indians an opportunity to see New York with the aid of a qualified escort guide. Stream Fishing in Rivers by Brooke and Brooks has recently been published to the great delight of Betty and Joy.

"Bob Hough's course on How to Sleep has more students enrolled than are registered in Podunk College. Bill Tappan, president of the college, suspects some of the students of taking the course twice a day. How to Earn Money is taught by Phil Hudspeth. However, Phil is rather busy trying to keep his relief check coming in regularly. Marguerite Burns teaches Simple Kindergarten Courses for College Students, and Ethel Derington teaches a comparable course—Nursery Rhymes for High School Students. Margaret Hughes is a mathematical genius; she adds two and two and similar sums with incredible rapidity and hardly ever makes a mistake.

"Alden Rupe is the world's tiddly-winks champion. Leland Johnson, 'the Ten-Ton Turk', is a famous name in wrestling circles. Larry Langdon, Bill Barrett, Oliver Ebert, Glen Hunter, Leon Klamm, and Haskell Young form a basketball team known as the 'Toonerville Toughies.' During the past season they won one of their 23 games.

"The Gettum Husband Cookery, a cooking school operated by Louise Somerville, June Gelvin, Billie Wiley, and Dorothy Meeks supplies a large portion of the business of W. E. Buryem and Co., an undertaking establishment owned by Marie Reese and Marjorie Bjork. Fern Steepleton, Joe Lapan, and Elver Circle profit by the same business since they operate a coffin manufacturing company—'Ask the man who owns one.' Harriet Amstutz and Ruth Mull are grave-diggers. Bob Stewart and Charles Berry sell parachutes under the cheerful trade slogan of 'Double your money back if your Parachute doesn't open.' Doris Dunkin, Kathleen Donley, and Vera Skinner manufacture eyelashes to match your fingernails. Vivian Geonetta, Louise Massaro, Bonnie Lou Brackett, Irma Clark, and Esther Gotfred have spent eight years of research in compiling an enormous volume called The History of Major Nuisances, or the Memoirs of Major Heaton.

"Whitney Sullivan pilots the loop-o-plane at the State Fair and scoffs at Jack Wolther, because he thinks Jack's job of piloting the ferris wheel is 'Sissy' work. Mildred Matts and Dorothea Kelly publish a comic-strip, 'June and July in Augusta, Georgia.' Jack Chester is mayor of Onehorseburg, and Luther McClain and David Harrington are members of the town council. Bill Major is the town 'constabul.' Richard Crist and his photographer, John Owens, have traveled all over the world in search of news for their paper. At the present time they are on one of their longest beats, Fountain to Colorado Springs. In Fountain they found Elmer Newman hard at work, building an invisible house.

"The James boys run a dude ranch in the far west for tired 'forties.' Hard-riding Vernon Edgar and Dick Cossell, clad in fancy cowboy outfits, act as escorts for the tenderfeet. Ruth Climenson and Margaret Bevens sell a patented foot powder to the same tenderfeet. Earl Printz, Larry Burke, and Wayne Bell are the proud owners of a race (?) horse—to steal a phrase from Washington Irving, it looks more like 'A broken-down plow-horse that has outlived everything but its viciousness.' Lewis Amaya possesses an enormous race-track for cockroaches, where 'Bet-a-million' Joe Von Gundy wagers up to a nickel every day.

"Haskell Grisham, Garland Burress, and Frank Bengel are trying to get a corner on the world egg market, in order to sell the eggs for Broadway actors after recent experiences of said actors. Bob Clark and Ernest Crites have set up a dictatorship in Erchwon assisted by 'muscle men' Crosby, Dent, Graham, and Hebein. Donald Ernst and Ralph Ingle, as well as Betty Ahern, Alice Grisard, and Betty O'Connor are members of the 'Ballet Internationale.'

"The baseball team 'Snippy Snappy Breakfast Fodder' including Mary Jane Scallon, Agnes Supple, Mary Agee, Grace Chapman, Mary DeIsla, Helen Dolsen, Peggy Greve, Lila Mae Lowrance, Josephine Miller, and Betty Rusler are noted for their errorful play. Marjorie Allen, Jeanne Munday, Georgia Wetzler and Ella Louise Owen are the toughest women wrestlers in the racket. Doris Speek, Elsie DeShon, and Kathryn Barr are football players. Virginia Hedenskog is head football coach at Vassaryale.

"Liquid ice has been invented by Joe Habiger and Fred Dixon. Helen Stokes and Grace Ann Haines are the 'before' and 'after' of a horse act in vaudeville. Ben Griffith and John Giardino are busy oiling mice so they won't squeak. Bob Strieby and Ed Leonard are soldiers of fortune (unfortunate soldiers) and are combating cooties in Algeria. Jack McCarthy, Oakley Laurence, and Jim Selvidge have invented a non-sinkable submarine. Jean Pound and Eleanor Evans are lipstick manufacturers—hasn't scratched yet. William McGrath, Joe Johnson, Frank LaBelle, and Todd Storer have been working on a 'non-sticky' glue.

"Anne Bradford, Arleta Lile, and Betty Doran are professional clock-watchers for the W. P. A. Betty Jeanne Overmyer is a tobacco auctioneer. Harvard Whiteman, Franklin Sluder, and Charles Juinta, in an effort to find a new source of power, having been trying to harness tumble-weeds for that purpose. Florine and Sylvia Montgomery have a nine hundred ninety-nine year contract on washing the windows of the Empire State building. Lorraine White, Mildred Smelser, and Dorothy Norris auction off the Brooklyn Bridge every day and sometimes twice on Sunday. Valerie Spooner, Lelabell Benningfield, and Mary Valenta manufacture a soundless radio that won't disturb the neighbors.

"Vaile Williams, Glenn Orf, and Harold Meadoff are professional polished politicians. Oliver Reynolds and Robert Laird are a tap-dancing team of tin-pan alley fame. Henrietta Campbell is a typewriter for Al Smith–and Josephine Garone and Christine Fabrizio are his personal pencil sharpeners. Rose Santarelli and Carolyn Salatino specialize in extracting false teeth. Jim Potter is a singing messenger for Postal Union. Ernest Vitullo, Harold Smith, Verne Pino, and Donald Shepler have perfected a mirror that enables you to see double so that you can see twice as well.

"Louise Murphy, Mafalda Micalone, Lena Ruth Pratt, Helen Julius, and Jaunia Baker have partially supplanted Walt Disney with their technicolor production of, not Disney's Pinocchio, but of Webster's Dictionary. Frances Pagnao and Helen Vertovec run a barber shop for toupees. Jim Rikhoff and Ben Sanchez have invented a wingless airplane that doesn't fly. Mildred and Rosalie are recognized by this slogan: 'Thomas and ditto' deadbeats, dodgers beware. We collect debts! One of the most dangerous of all occupations is that of Ray Lambuth and Herbert Thompson. Risking their lives at every step, they wade out into three inches of water to capture alive the deadly minnow.

"Bret Kelly, script writer for this 'Confucius Say' program is very happy now that he thinks he's Napoleon."

"Calling 1941"

The Spirit of the New Public Address System scratched his bald pate, causing little sparks to jump about his head. "I think it's only right that I should know something about the school where I'm going to spend my life." Thus he addressed the four class historians standing before his copper-plated desk.

"You, the funny-looking one, tell me about your class," pointing to the junior historian.

Blushing, the young man took his thumb out of his mouth and commenced. "Our class has had a fine record for its three years in Centennial, and this year it almost outdid itself. Eight of this year's football lettermen were junior boys, two of them—Richard Trevithick and Eugene Voris—first team men. Gene Raymond, Toby Ruybal, Gene West, Dave Amaya, and Kenneth Baird were important basketballers.

"Our class president, John Todd, is also president of the Safety Council. John is an outstanding musician, along with Dick Hoffman, Vernon Immroth, Bill Jehle, David Houston, and hosts of others, not to speak of the many band and orchestra members from the junior class or those in the glee clubs such as Kay Spoelstra, Bob Edmiston, and Shirley Jean Ward.

"Two junior debaters, Walter Melvin and Abe Raich, won a debate tournament at Chadron, Nebraska, in the "B" division, and later were promoted to the first string. Mary Jean Jones reached the finals in the Hesperian essay contest. In the Vodevil, juniors starred in many acts, and the junior speech class presented the Vodevil play, The Ghost Story, with George Rice telling the ghost story. Then there was the "Evening of One-Act Plays" in which a number of juniors took part. All three years juniors have been important in the big Centennial circus.

"Juniors hold important positions on the annual and newspaper staffs. Velma June Clark and Diane Wankel were editors of the paper during the first six school months. And did you notice the shapely junior twirlers on the drill team?

"I haven't mentioned as yet what we've done in our two previous years. Last year Pauline deMordaunt was the winner of the Vories debate medal, and when we were freshmen, the Shakespeare awards for scholarship went to William Hopkins and Barbara Noe.

"Naturally, it requires mighty good officers and an efficient critic to take a class through such successful and happy years. They were John Todd, president this year, and Betty Lou Jensen, vice-president, who was president the two previous years. Betty Jean Graham is serving her third term as secretary and Mary McCoy her second year as treasurer. Miss Melcher, as critic, has helped develop the democratic spirit of the class to such an extent that they were allowed to manage their own seating arrangements in assembly. If you ever happen to blow a fuse, Mr. Spirit, it'll probably be because of Gene Raymond's yell-leading."

The Spirit smilingly nodded. "Thank you; I'm sure I'll hear lots from you juniors next year."

Station "S-o-p-h"

This is station S–O–P–H operating on a frequency of 1942 kilo-cycles celebrating the end of our second year on the Centennial hook-up. During our first year on the air our sponsor was Mr. Jehle. We had such celebrated stars on our network as Orville Dowling, George Seigel, Dorothy Thompson, and Virginia Hunter. Yell leader James Carson was the announcer for this station.

That year on the air we presented a varied program, developing a strong freshmen football team; and the freshmen basketball team composed of Clarence Wagner, Orville Dowling, Bob Oakley, Dale Cochran, Joe Fraterelli, Walter Jost, and Whitney Warden won the County Tournament at Boone for the second time in three years. Priscilla Kettering, our playwright, wrote the freshmen act of the Vodevil, and many freshmen took part in the operetta. James Carson and Phyllis Walker won the Shakespearean scholarship awards for 1939. The increased enrollment of the R. O. T. C. Band and the Centennial Band showed that many musicians were on this program. Indeed we have just cause to be proud of our first year on the air.

Toward the end of the second year, we find that the star-studded cast includes Peter Douglas, Whitney Warden, Dorothy Thompson, and Virginia Hunter with James Carson as the announcer. The sponsorship of this illustrious program was turned over to Mrs. Farnworth at the beginning of the year.

We have presented one of the best programs in the history of radio. We have excelled in football with such valiant warriors as Donald More, Peter Douglas, and D. G. Douglas; John Mulay, Peter Douglas, Clarence Wagner, and Orville Dowling have led us in basketball. Many have gained membership in clubs and societies. The Newspaper, Year Book, and debate squad have been the extra curricular activities of many. The R. O. T. C. Band and Battalion and the Centennial Band have been increased by many sophomores. Robert Cross won the Essay Contest on "Americanism" sponsored by the Pueblo Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Our program includes the saving of tinfoil for the crippled children at St. Mary's Hospital. This is the first time, to our knowledge, that this has been attempted on any program.

With these two illustrious and star-studded years behind us and with the prospect that our next two years will be even better, we should go on to new heights of achievement in the radio world.

—WHITNEY WARDEN.

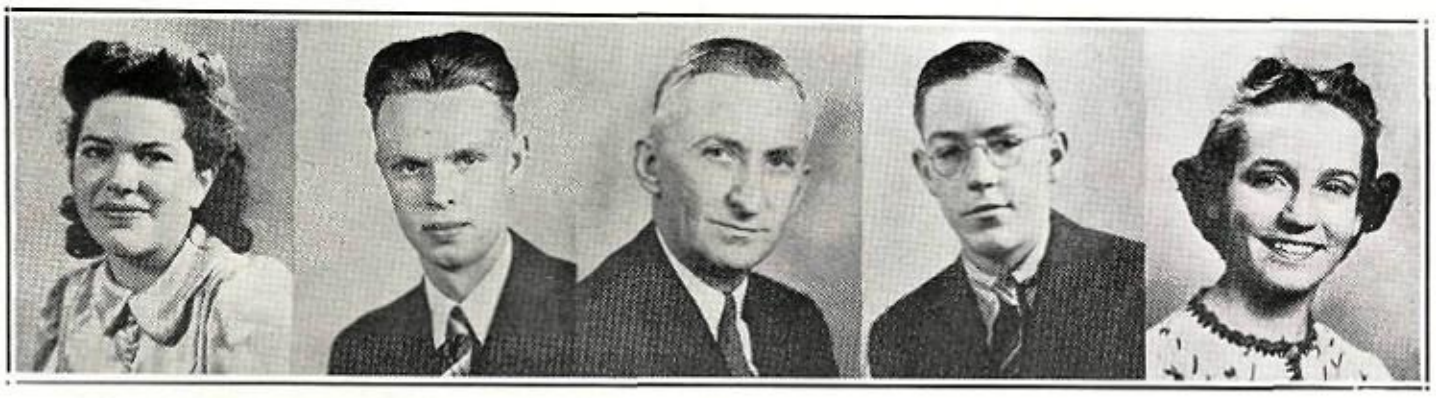
Bulldog Song

Fight ye bulldogs,
Crash right thru that line
Fight ye bulldogs,
We're behind you all the time
Fight ye bulldogs,
Fight with all your might
Fight! fight! fight—ye brave old bulldogs
For "old Centen" the red and white.



MONA LEE DAMERON, ALBERT PORTER, MR. JEHLE, DUDLEY MILLER, MARGARET WOLF

The Newest Station

Flash! This is your Bulldog News Correspondent speaking to you from that grand old school, Centennial.

The question before us today seems to be, "Will the Freshmen of today become as colorful supporters of Centen as the past Bulldogs have been?" Time will tell, but it is nowadays a popular pastime to predict the future!

Points supporting the prediction that the Class of 1944 will be among the best are as follows:

I. With their advisor, Mr. Jehle, making them better Bulldogs every day by teaching them the code, how can they help being loyal?

II. With such grand persons as Albert Porter and Dudley Miller as president and vice-president, how can they fail to improve?

III. With a secretary (and personality) such as Margaret Wolf, how can they keep from becoming inspired?

IV. With the bright—as well as pretty—head of Mona Lee Dameron, how can the figures go wrong?

Talent? The Vodevil found a pair of exquisite dancers, Margaret Shattuck and Betty Clark, a young but promising accordianist—Jack Seavy—two cowboy singers, Joe Holloran and his brother, and a pair of merry, dancing puppets manipulated by Eleanor Triebes. More talent is coming to light at each Freshman Club meeting which is, by the way, the "guiding light" of the Freshman Class.

Sports? The basketball team has already begun to follow in the footsteps of our present champions by winning another trophy for Centen's growing collection. Among Mr. Green's most promising are: Al Porter, James Amaya, and Salvy Hernandez.

As for football, Mr. Kettering is already beginning to train the future grid stars. A few of his outstanding players are: James Amaya, James Sanford, and Arthur Valle.

The Freshman Girls' Rifle Team, formed this year, will probably, in the future, bring one more honor for this honorable school.

Under Miss Wentworth's superior supervision and with the cooperation of the Freshmen the Circus can be chalked up as another success

Will these Freshmen be brilliant Bulldogs in the future? Who knows?

Your Freshman Bulldog Correspondent, Patsy McMahan, is now signing off until this problem arises again next year at this same time.

—PATSY MCMAHAN.

Associated Centennial Officers

The A. C. O. was organized to carry out a two-fold program. First, it is their duty to represent the student body of Centennial; second, the A. C. O. is the one organization that acts as a medium between the faculty and the student body.

The A. C. O. directs fire drills, hall guards, horse men, parades, awarding "C" letters, and revising the Centennial handbook. The A. C. O. also sponsors a Clean-Up Campaign each year. Many of the activities taken up by A. C. O. are not outlined in their constitution. They perform such duties as help to promote a friendly and democratic atmosphere about Centen.

Officers for this year were Stephen Comiskey, president, Beatrice Laramey, secretary, and Mr. Heaton, sponsor. —BETTY JEAN GRAHAM.

National Honor Society

In 1927 Centennial was awarded a charter giving her authority to form a local chapter of the National Honor Society, for which the qualifications are Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service.

Each student entering Centennial strives to receive membership in this group. Fifteen per cent of the senior class may be chosen: the first five per cent are voted upon at the end of the junior year, the second five per cent at the end of the first semester of the senior year, and the last five per cent at the end of the senior year.

Miss Harriet Spencer has served as critic since the origination of the group. This year's officers are Mildred Matts, president; Redell Trimm, vice-president; and Nathan Hoagland, secretary-treasurer. —GERRY RIBAR.

Debate

This year the Centennial debate squad again made a fine record for the school. In the season's first major tournament Walter Melvin and Abe Raich, who were on the second team at the time, won the B division Championship at Chadron, Nebraska. Four states were represented. The first team, Stephen Comiskey and Bret Kelly, defeated last year's national champions from Oklahoma City in a radio debate at Centennial. The same two speakers won the championship at the four-state tournament in Greeley. In the Southern District Tournament, which took place at Centennial, the second team and the scrubs took second place in both the A and B division against first string competition. After this tournament all of the scrubs were promoted to the second string as a reward for their good work. When Walter Melvin and Abe Raich gained superior rating, the highest possible record, at the state tournament in Boulder, they were promoted to the first team. The first string was not entered in either the District or the State tournaments. At the Tri-State Tournament in Fort Collins, the first string won second place, losing a close debate in the finals to Casper, Wyoming. This was the same team Centennial had defeated unanimously in the quarter-finals.

The squad captain for this year is Bret Kelly; John Alf is the treasurer; and Waynne Mertz is the manager.

Junior Hi-Y

Centennial's Jr. Hi-Y was formed in 1938 by members of the class of 1942. The meetings are held every Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. This is an organization for Sophomore and Freshmen boys for the development of Christian citizenship.

This year's program was varied consisting of interesting and instructive talks by guest speakers, helpful discussions among ourselves, several "potluck" suppers, demonstrations of hobbies, athletic competition with other Jr. Hi-Y clubs, and some social service work. This year our organization had a representative at the Hi-Y National Convention in Chapman, Kansas. The members have taken an active interest in all school activities, and the club has been a real live-wire organization.

Under the leadership of Miss Marion Lippert, the Amicae Girl Reserves have just completed a very active year. The annual barn dance, a picnic, a hay ride, two "potluck" suppers, and a formal installation of officers were the social events of the year. The girls adopted a family for the year's social service work. A penny carnival was given in order to raise money for this activity.

Officers for the year were: Lelabell Benningfield, president; Christine Fabrizio, vice-president; Anna Jean Benningfield, secretary; and Esther Gotfred, treasurer.

COACH GROSVENOR COACH THOMPSON

The services rendered to Centennial by Coach Grosvenor and Assistant Coach Thompson are practically immeasurable. We feel that it is impossible to express adequately our appreciation and gratitude for what they have done toward perfecting our boys in all fields of athletics. Under their guidance our school has had the most successful year in its athletic history. Congratulations and hats off to our coaches!

Football, 1939

Not since 1904 has Centennial had a football team like this 1939 Bulldog team. In 1904, a bareheaded, sweater-clad Bulldog squad won the state championship. Now, 35 years later, an aggressive, hard-working Bulldog eleven, whose watchword seemed to be "teamwork," came back with second place among the state's leather-clad legions.

It all started when, on September 16, Coach Grosvenor ran his team through two games in one day. The Bulldogs edged out Florence, 14-13, in the afternoon, and that night they inaugurated the new lighting system at the Centennial stadium by handing Ordway an 18-7 whipping. Both were practice tilts. Another non-conference game with the Lamar Savages ended disastrously for the Savages. Canon Abbey also bowed to Centennial.

The first league game brought Walsenburg into town to clash with Centennial. When they left, they had a 21-16 loss and Leland Johnson's spectacular kicking to muse about. It was then that the Bulldogs offensive power began to show up.

On the Salida field, Ray Gottula carried the winning touchdown against the Spartans for a 7-0 Bulldog victory. The Centen defense featured James Smith and Vernon Edgar.

The only blot on a perfect record, except for the Loveland game, was registered when St. Mary's of Walsenburg held a crippled Bulldog team, to a 0-0 tie.

A 19-18 photo-finish victory over the Trinidad Miners, always tough customers, rewarded Centennial with a first-place tie in the league. Heath Nuckolls kicked the conversion which proved to be the deciding point.

In the next week's game with Central for the first place berth, 5,000 fans were nearly killed off by heart failure when in the last instant of the game, Johnson passed successfully to Nuckolls to win, 20-13, after the Wildcats had tied the score in the fourth quarter. Gottula, Trevithick, Bennett, O'Brien, Amaya—everybody, in fact, played a walloping game.

Full of inspiration and in top form, the Bulldogs overwhelmed Canon City on Armistice Day, and so clinched the first South-Central league championship Centennial has won since the league was organized, and the next week the Red and White closed an undefeated league season with a 13-6 victory over Colorado Springs.

In the state playoffs, Centennial pounded out a pretty 27-0 win over the Las Animas Trojans. Teamwork for the Bulldogs was as perfect as could be asked for, and the offensive featuring McCarthy's pass-snagging kept the fans on their feet. The fans were equally excited on Thanksgiving day over the Grand Junction game for the Southern Colorado championship, which the Bulldogs won, 13-0. Farris Douglas was in for the first time since his injury at the beginning of the season.

Then came the Loveland game, for the state championship. Of that game which about 700 Centennialites and Pueblo backers journeyed up to see, nothing can be said except that the better team won. The Indians, considerably heavier than the Bulldogs, scored four times to triumph, 27-9.

Four Bulldogs—Smith, Amaya, Nuckolls, and McCarthy—made the all-conference team, chosen by the players on the league squads; and Edgar, Nuckolls, and Johnson were chosen for the all-state first squad, while Amaya and Smith made the second squad. Vernon Edgar was picked to be Centennial's Honorary captain for the year.

Basketball, 1940

Basketball men are wearing handsome leather red and white jackets with "State Champs" inscribed on the fronts. These Bulldogs won for Centennial their first state championship in the history of the school.

There was an inkling of what might happen in early practices, when the Red and White cagers seldom piled up less than forty points per game. First league opponents were the Canon City Tigers. Heath Nuckolls and Ray Gottula led a strong offensive against them that gave the Bulldogs a 44-15 win. On the following Saturday, Central tried to entertain Centen's cagers with a hard game, but with Amaya scoring 13 points and the rest of the team not far behind, Centennial won easily.

One night in January the Bulldogs trounced the 1939 champions, Colorado Springs, 38-18, after a hard fought but definitely one-sided battle. The next night Centennial's defense was strong and clever; their offensive playing powerful, and Florence bowed to the Bulldogs.

It was six up and six more to go after Centen shellacked Trinidad on February 9 by a 44 to 18 win. Springs' Terrors were again bowled over the ensuing week, 23-15, when Centen's speedy and aggressive big six played a smooth swift game on the Colorado Springs floor.

By that time the Bulldogs were warming up to the job of winning basketball games, and they took the measure of Central, 49-14, one day after Washington's birthday. In the second half, Centen piled up 33 points against 6 for the Wildcats.

Thirteen was a lucky number for Centennial at Canon. For twelve years straight Centennial had never won a game from the Tigers on the Canon floor; on this thirteenth year, Centennial won, 30-22. The number thirteen jersey belonged to Nuckolls, high scorer for the game.

Perhaps Trinidad's Miners regretted that their game with Centennial, postponed from earlier in the season, had not been completely cancelled. Centen finally passed the half a hundred mark against the Miners. All six first stringers did a large share of the scoring.

The league pennant was definitely clinched in a 46 to 26 victory over the Florence Huskies on the Bulldog court. Walsenburg tried gallantly to stop the Bulldog steamroller in the final game of the season, but Johnson and Amaya led the Bulldogs to a 47-31 victory.

In the first bracket of the state meet, Centennial drew Fort Morgan and defeated them, 39-25. The game against Boulder in the semi-final tilt was a bit more vivid. The Bulldogs had to play like a ball of fire in the second half to out-score the powerful Boulder quintet.

Our Fort Collins state championship game is basketball history now—how the tall Lambkins, nabbing the ball off the bankboards consistently, kept the lead throughout the first half; how Farris Douglas' basket put the Bulldogs into the lead; how Fort Collins gained a one-point lead with four minutes to go; and how finally Amaya, Gottula, and Nuckolls scored the deciding tallies to win for Centennial, 36-32.

Cinder Path Chronicles

Coaches Kettering and Thompson's 1940 track team have already met with considerable success as the Year Book goes to print. Their schedule was the most extensive one in a great many years, consisting of seven meets all told.

In an invitational meet at the Bulldog field early in April, Centennial nosed out Colorado Springs, 48½ points to 43½. Ten other schools stretched out behind, with between 2 and 38 points. Heath Nuckolls and Colorado Springs' Bilbrez tied for high scoring honors. Others who contributed important points were Eugene Albo, who won a breath-taking half mile run, James Smith and Louis Amaya in the weights, and D. G. Douglas in the pole vault.

At the Trinidad invitational meet Centennial finished third, Heath Nuckolls again won high scoring laurels. Dan More, second in the 880-yard run, Amaya, Douglas, Albo, and the mile relay team also won places in their events.

The cross-country team, composed of lettermen K. Osgood, H. Osgood, Snead, Dowling, Spees, Sanchez, Lopez, Ernest, and Broadhead, won second place in the South-Central league.

Under the leadership of Major Branson the R. O. T. C. enjoyed its most successful year. This year the unit had the largest enrollment since its organization in 1935. The outstanding accomplishment of the year was the achievement of the Honor rating at the annual inspection by Colonel T. K. Spencer on April 2. This is the second consecutive time the highest possible rating has been awarded to the unit. The band was also rated as one of the finest high school bands in the west. The R. O. T. C. rifle team brought home further honors by capturing both the State and Southern Colorado championships.

Every Thursday afternoon the Centennial Battalion performed the colorful ceremony of lowering the flag at Retreat.

The Commissioned Officers have formed a chapter of the Cadet Alumni Association to carry on the principles acquired in R. O. T. C. Fencing instruction for both officers and sponsors has been another activity of this organization.

Major Branson was ably assisted by Sergeant Sneed and Sergeant Thompson.

DEAR BRUTUS—Don Carson, Barbara Comiskey
LA POSADA—Elaine Shadford, Frances Carson

Hit Reviews

The Dramatics Department is yearly taking a more important and prominent position in the activities of Centennial. Keeping in mind the high standards set up by past productions, and working unceasingly toward perfection, the department is constantly striving to reach higher levels in dramatic technique.

The department began its year with a contribution to the vodevil, a delightful Tarkington comedy The Ghost Story in which the juniors had an opportunity to show their talents.

As a Christmas offering the department attempted something quite different this year. La Posada, a Mexican play centering around three Mexican Christmas customs, the building of the nacimiento, the breaking of the pinata, and the singing of the La Posada, offered much in the way of colorful costumes and settings. The story was of a little Mexican girl whose faith in the Holy Ones won the heart of a desperado and saved her father from disgrace.

Four "four bell plays" and four brilliant casts made the Evening of One-Act Plays unusually successful this year. All On a Summer's Day, a whimsical bit of nothing, offered an excuse to use lovely costumes and delicate, exaggerated gestures. Gruesome, tense, and full of moments of horrible suspense was A Message from Kufu but neverthless an outstanding hit of the year. The Medicine Show, a character study from the banks of the Ohio River, allowed the audience an opportunity to play an important part, as no scenery, except that furnished by the imagination, was used. Guaranteed to furnish a full half hour of laughs on any program is A Wedding, which was superbly done and warmly received.

Outshining all others is the Senior Play, because into its making goes the experience of the trials and mistakes of the past, discoveries, pleasant and unpleasant, made during the year, and a staunch determination to make this play, the last, one that will be outstanding and remembered. The department feels that The Seven Keys to Baldpate was such a play, and that the efforts and time put into its making were indeed worthwhile.

The members of the department are sincerely grateful to Miss Winifred Gahagan, both for her invaluable direction and for the fine opportunities she has afforded them.

—FRANCES CARSON.
